garden variety

May 3, 2006

Still staring at that big, blank space on your wall?

Perhaps it's time to sample the offerings from your own — or at least your neighbour's — backyard. The stunning photography of East Vancouver resident June Hunter might be just what you're looking for.

Hunter began her artistic career by photographing elements of her garden, such as delicate water droplets on a bare twig, then transferring the pictures onto marble tiles and pendants. But we love her latest offerings: colourful rust formations she zooms her camera tightly in on then blows up into magnificent wall art.

You can tell friends you're rusty when it comes to decorating, then watch them drool.

Check out Hunter's work ($60-$900) at Artworks Gallery, 225 Smythe St., 604-688-3301 www.artworksbc.com or visit www.junehunter.ca
